

1
2
3
4
5
6
7

ABSTRACT

A method is described for conducting an exchange for value in the context of a tradition associated with deciduous teeth. The method includes the step of providing a token redeemable for value at a predetermined place of business. The tooth is handled in accordance with the tradition. The tooth is replaced with the token, which is subsequently redeemed at the place of business.